EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S CORNER

HILLSIDES' GROWTH AND CHANGE

While stepping into the new millennium, Hillsides has achieved many milestones thanks to the continuous commitment and devotion of our Board of Directors, volunteers, donors and staff. The tremendous growth, change and many accomplishments of the past year have provided us with increased opportunity to focus on serving our children and families.

Creating a new identity for the agency was a natural evolution for us. By officially adopting the name, with a very specific tagline, "Hillsides, creating safe places for children since 1913." we incorporate our mission in all current and future programs. Whether the services we provide are residential treatment, community outreach or advocacy, we are committed to creating safe places for children.

Hillsides successfully completed the first phase of the "Change the Life of a Child" Capital Development Campaign including two new cottages housing ten children each. While bringing joy to the lives of our children, their new homes meant further affirmation of Hillsides' love and care for them. Not only do the buildings meet the current and future needs of our children, but the construction is also giving the campus a major facelift. As I tour from the administrative buildings to the upper campus into the cottage areas, I am reminded of a peaceful green pastoral playground with vintage trees all around—a safe place where our children feel protected.

In keeping with Hillsides' tradition of programmatic innovation, I am pleased to announce the addition of the Mental Health Day Rehabilitation, which brings more personal therapy to the children we serve. We have also established four new school-based programs with the Pasadena Unified School District. The programs in Franklin Elementary School, San Rafael Elementary School, Norma Coombs Elementary School and Woodrow Wilson Middle School allow a team of teachers, nurses, social workers and school administrators to identify children who may need Hillsides' mental health services. The goal of these programs is to identify children at risk and intervene before they harm themselves or others.

Hillsides also implemented a "Kid Club" program at the Pasadena/Altadena Family Center to provide educational enrichment activities for at-risk children. This program raised the level of expectation that the children have of themselves and the community, by engaging children in positive activities. Now, these children are thinking about going to college. The children are capable, for the first time, of setting these expectations as goals and achieving them.

I am extremely fortunate to work in collaboration with Hillsides' Board of Directors, donors, volunteers and staff whose years of loyal commitment are essential to the success and growth of our programs.

WELCOME NEW BOARD LEADERSHIP

On February 10, 2000 the Board of Directors held their annual meeting to bid farewell to outgoing Board officers and welcome new ones. After a successful two-year term as Chairman of Hillside's Board of Directors, Carl Hulick passed the torch to Mary Dee Hacker, vice president of patient care services at Childrens Hospital Los Angeles.

"Stepping forward with much pride, it is truly a privilege to work with other Board members to provide leadership at Hillside for a mission that matters," announced Mary Dee enthusiastically. "I am very pleased to work with the Board in their stewardship and ministry in serving the children that come to and are served by Hillside."

Mary Dee serves as a wonderful role model for her two lovely children, Kathryn, 17, and Mark, 14, and is married to Steve Nishibayashi, also a Board member at Hillside and a committed pediatrician with a practice in Glendale.

Additionally, Hillside is pleased to announce the induction of other Board officers: Norm Mitchell, senior vice president at Cushman Realty, is vice chairperson; Lyn Spector, retired vice president at Scudder, Kemper Investments, is first vice chairperson; Linda Boyd Griffey, a partner at O'Melveny & Myers LLP, is continuing as secretary; as well as Robert Raney, managing director of U.S. Trust Company of California, continues as the treasurer.

Our four new Board members are Pasadena residents Susan Campoy, proprietor of Julienne; John Sadler; and Bradley Hanson, vice president of Franklin/Templeton Funds; and San Marino resident Betsy Hathaway, owner of Rainbow Interiors by Betsy. Hillside welcomes Mary Dee, our new Board officers and members to their positions of leadership.

Carl Hulick, former chairman, offers Mary Dee Hacker, 2000 Board of Directors' chairperson, words of wisdom for leading Hillside into the next millennium.

Located in the upper campus of Hillside, two new cottages were built to house ten children each. Adjacent to these homes are a playground and pool for cooling off during the summer months.

ADDING THEATRE TO GOODWILL

Established in 1929 as the Junior Division of the Shakespeare Club, the women of the Shakespeare League of Pasadena fulfill their passion for theater while upholding a deep philanthropic commitment to helping others. HillSides has been a very fortunate recipient of the League's goodwill since 1992. Last year the Shakespeare League gave hundreds of theater tickets for their production of "Fiddler on the Roof" to children's organizations such as HillSides. In addition, they supported HillSides by donating staple items to our Family Center and Christmas stockings to the cottages as well as providing complete birthday celebrations for the teens residing in our group homes.

"Year round, the women of the Shakespeare League help us tremendously in caring for the teens by providing each of them with special birthdays and holidays," said Barbara Schmidt, HillSides' director of community resources. "HillSides relies heavily upon the caring collaboration of groups like the Shakespeare League who make meaningful differences in the quality of our care."

REDUCING RISK TO STUDENTS

Adding to the list of HillSides' accolades is the Woodrow Wilson Middle School program, which has completed its first year with notable success under the umbrella of the HillSides Family Center. This program serves 70 children and their families through crisis intervention, assessment and referrals, as well as individual, group and family therapy. This school-based model brings mental health services to the campus by integrating with the overall school program. Working closely with the faculty and administration is the key to identifying those students that could most benefit from the supportive services that HillSides offers. We make individual plans for treatment in conjunction with the academic and behavioral goals of the school.

In the past year we have seen our students improve in attendance, grades, behavior, and overall standardized test scores increased more than the general population of the school. These non-mental health measures show us that our treatment has an even broader effect on the children's lives. Peter is one of the children who has demonstrated how HillSides has positively affected his life.

Peter came to Woodrow Wilson Middle School from another school where he was expelled for fighting, using marijuana, and having poor grades. He entered the school's "Opportunity Room," a more highly monitored program for students with behavior problems. Clearly an intelligent boy, Peter simply had no motivation or interest in school. As HillSides staff worked together with his teachers, Peter soon earned his way back into the school's regular program. He became aware of how his drug use, even though occasional, affected his ability to do well in school. In identifying and pursuing his goals, both personal and professional, Peter began to recognize how his behavior was sabotaging his ability to reach them. Peter graduated and went on to high school.

Peter recently called HillSides staff at Woodrow Wilson because he was having trouble getting motivated with some of his more difficult classes. A HillSides staff member has arranged for him to come back after school to receive support. Peter utilized the communication skills that HillSides taught him when reaching out for help. Peter feels that HillSides is a place that believed in him and will continue to help when asked. Sometimes the only thing stopping a child from dropping out from school is someone noticing they are in crisis. HillSides cares about children like Peter.

A YEAR ENDS IN GUILD STYLE

Ringing in the holidays with style, the Guild of HillSides held its Ninth Annual Christmas Party at Pasadena's Parkway Grill on December 8, 1999. The party profits bolstered the Guild's ability to make a $10,000 gift this year to HillSides' capital campaign to improve the facilities for the children in residence.

Aside from this financial gift, the Guild women spearheaded numerous worthwhile and fun-filled activities for the children of HillSides. Chaired by Susan Heard, the Guild coordinated their fabulous annual picnic for all of HillSides' children which included exciting games and a celebrity appearance by Sweet Lou Johnson of the Los Angeles Dodgers. The women of the Guild made all the difference for HillSides' six graduating residents by hosting an "Emancipation Shower" wherein they gathered household and personal items for the teens who were setting out into the world on their own. With the oversight of members, Astrid Fishbein and Barbara Buker, the Guild pampered our teens with holiday gift baskets created for every season as well as special birthday celebrations. The entire HillSides' family is grateful for the joy and love that the Guild brings to the children and for their commitment to HillSides' growth and development.

BRINGING THE MAGIC YEAR-ROUND

HillSides' commitment to creating safe places for children is strengthened by the outpouring of support from corporations such as The Walt Disney Company, who continue to make all the difference for special events and year-round.

"At HillSides, the happiness and welfare of children are the primary concerns. At Disney, we feel pretty much the same way, so support of HillSides is a natural expression of our commitment to children in our community," expressed Joan McCarthy, manager of community relations of The Walt Disney Company. "Our ability to put a smile on the child's face is greatly enhanced through the dedicated efforts of our employees, 'Disney VoluntEARS,' who work tirelessly behind the scenes on behalf of the children."

In the spring the children awoke to find beautiful Easter baskets stuffed with Disney memorabilia. Our "End-of-the-School Year, Welcome Summer" celebration is always a much anticipated event for the children. Last year's festivity was celebrated with Donald Duck and Goofy who posed with the children for their photo keepsake of the day. Seventy Angels baseball caps were given out at our Guild picnic/playday, which were definitely a great hit with HillSides' residents. Disney apparel, toys, books, gifts, Christmas tree skirts, stocking and ornaments made Christmas a warm and cheerful holiday for many children and deserving families.

"We are most grateful to Disney and our other community friends for their help and generosity in building these lifelong memories for our residents to take with them into the future," said Barbara Schmidt, HillSides' director of community resources.

A SMASHING HIT FOR VOLUNTEERS

For a second year, The Ice House of Pasadena has honored Hillside's with another smashing Anniversary Show by donating the proceeds of ticket sales to support the activities of Hillside's Volunteer Network (which also boosted the final tally with a silent auction and raffle).

The Hillside's Volunteer Network (formerly known as Hillside's Young Professionals) developed out of the belief that all children have a right to grow up feeling safe, significant and loved. The group is comprised of caring men and women who have busy lives, but wish to make a very positive difference in the lives of Hillside's youngsters.

To centralize activities and relationships with the children, the group has 'adopted' one of the cottages, coordinating fun and educational outings and projects. This past year's activities included an adventure to the Seaside Lagoon, an outing to see Fantasia 2000 at the IMAX Theatres and a roller skating Christmas party. The Volunteer Network's holiday gift to the cottage was a computer with educational software and a desk, as well as Game Boys with a variety of games and beautiful stockings for the children. They also 'adopted' a family in need from the Family Center during the holidays — putting together generous and thoughtful gifts. The spirit and life force of this wonderful volunteer group is truly a gift to the children of Hillside's.

PLANNING NEEDS PERSONAL TOUCH

These days, it seems as if everything can be accomplished by the push of a button or a "chat" on the Internet. However, shortcuts are not always the answer as you often lose the ability of having things exactly as you like or need them to be.

Estate planning is a very thoughtful and personal journey and one that you want to turn out exactly as you planned. This is not a surprise, considering the overall purpose of estate planning is to ensure that your wishes are carried out. Family obligations, business interests, church commitments and community charity support differ so much from one person to the next. Your estate plan needs to represent your emotional and charitable priorities.

If properly devised, your estate plan not only allows you to help others in the future, it also can help you now. With careful planning you can accomplish these goals: (1) current income and immediate tax savings; (2) future estate tax savings; (3) increased income today; and (4) support of a charitable cause to which you have a deep commitment.

Your planning may be as simple as a provision in your will or as complex as a charitable trust. Insurance, annuities, appreciated securities, real estate and other assets play a part in your estate planning.

Talk to your attorney, trust officer, accountant, financial planner or someone you trust about your wishes. Hillside's can help, too. Just give us a call — we will assist you in this very personal and essential process. For additional information, please contact Nancy Garni, Hillside's director of development, at (323) 255-9005, ext. 235.

SHEDDING LIGHT ON CHILDREN

Since May of 1996, Hillside has been most fortunate to have Las Candelas affiliated with our agency. Las Candelas, a volunteer group comprised of 40 women, has brought to our facility 44 years of experience in the mental health arena and a wealth of energy, knowledge and creativity.

Las Candelas maintains a wonderful "store" for the children residents. The children earn points in the classroom for effort, participation and good behavior. As a special reward, the students redeem their points in the Las Candelas bookstore for coveted books, educational materials and toys. The group also takes Hillside's children on many unique and memorable field trips to places like the San Gabriel Mission, Los Angeles County and Gene Autry Museums, with lunch in Hancock Park. Both the outings and the bookstore have been remarkable additions in the lives of our children. We thank the members of Las Candelas for helping the children of Hillside grow into healthy, balanced adults.

CHILDREN HELPING CHILDREN

Significant social changes occur when people come together for common causes by creating opportunities, speaking against injustices, and in Hillside's case, creating safer places for children. Our volunteers continue to support, enrich and motivate others to respond to a growing concern about the plight of children. One such volunteer is Wendy Byrnes whose commitment and generous spirit encourage others, particularly children, to give to Hillside's children and families.

"The most important thing is getting children at a young age to care for others, especially other children because they can relate to them," Wendy expressed. "I have seen some of our former students come back and donate even after they have graduated."

Wendy is the School Board President of St. Martin-in-the-Fields School and an active Hillside's Board member. Since her involvement at the school and her inspiring tour of Hillside, Wendy has impacted the children and families with the support of her family, friends and colleagues. From school children designing Thank You cards for Hillside's children to use, and making Easter baskets, to all classrooms adopting families in need during Christmas, Wendy has orchestrated these philanthropic activities and more.

"Wendy gives 100% of herself in everything she pursues. This is demonstrated by her commitment to Hillside and St. Martin's School," affirmed Barbara Schmidt, Hillside's director of community resources. "She is an individual who believes youth are our future, and continually supports Hillside's efforts to heal abused children so they can develop into healthy, happy and productive citizens." Wendy proves that even the youngest volunteers can be the voice for children.

Fashionably great: Ann Martin, KCRS anchor and event Master of Ceremonies and event chairwoman, Patti Specht of Las Candelas at the February 30, 1999 "Our Gift of Hope" biennial fashion benefit, raising the financial backing needed to continue Las Candelas' efforts to help children.

TRIBUTES HONOR FAMILY AND FRIENDS

This past year, we were so pleased to see a growing number of friends and supporters choosing to give to Hillsides while at the same time honoring and remembering family members, friends and colleagues. Hillsides' tribute and memorial program provides an easy and elegant opportunity for donors, as well as honorees, to be a part of something good. This heartfelt way of giving supports Hillsides' vital mission to create safe places for children. It is also a gracious way of letting someone know they are in your thoughts during significant periods of life — or in lieu of flowers or gifts.

You may request that Hillsides send a tribute or memorial card to your honoree notifying them that you have made a gift on their behalf. If you prefer to send your notifications directly, single or packets of multiple cards are readily available through our Development Department. A donation of $10 per card is suggested.

We extend our thoughtful appreciation to the following individuals and their loved ones who selected Hillsides to receive memorial contributions in lieu of flowers or gifts on the occasion of their passing:

Stella Cable Christopher Cole Klaus Guttua Jesse D. Moses Patricia Parker Emil Steck, Jr.

Warm thanks to the following newlyweds who requested that contributions be made to Hillsides in lieu of gifts on the occasion of their marriage:
